GERALDI TREE — Employees of the Tennessee Valley Authority's generating group are continuing to support the Gerald family of Florida, victims of Hurricane Andrew.

The family, which consists of Michael and Camille Gerald and 15 "special-needs" children, have been adopted by employees of the generating group, who continue to provide financial and other assistance to the family.

The "Gerald Tree," located in TVA's Lookout Place building downtown, gives employees the opportunity to purchase gifts specifically for the children, or make cash donations. The video monitor to the left tells the Gerald story. The family has been featured on national television.

The Gerald's plan on dedicating a room in their home when it is rebuilt to the employees of TVA who have assisted them in their time of need. (Staff photo by Tim Barber)
